C&E Plastics and Zinco Develop Partnering Agreement

Georgetown, PA, USA – C&E Plastics announced its first partnering agreement with Zinco USA. Zinco serves the galvanizing industry with advanced services such as non-invasive kettle inspection and kettle pump outs. The partnering agreement will cover products and services that capitalize on the two organizations' strengths including delivering innovative and efficient products to the metal processing industry.

"We found the fit with Zinco to be excellent and an opportunity for us to develop and deliver additional offerings to our customers and industry," said Cliff Crighton, C&E Plastics president. "Zinco provides innovative products and services and that is our goal as well. This agreement will enhance both company's capabilities."

Zinco president Mario Ubiali concurs, "Developing a joint offering with C&E lets both companies bring their best to a new offering. That will mean good things for our customers and our industry."

More details of the agreement will be announced later this year.
